Kennedy Calls Meeting of Security Aides

Berlin Crisis Seen
As Chief Topic for Advisers To Discuss

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy meets with the National Security Council today to discuss possible military, diplomatic and civilian defense measures which he may take to deal with the growing crisis between the Soviet Union and the Western powers over Berlin.

The range and actions under study within the government is reported to include partial mobilization, increasing NATO strength in Europe, a new round of East-West negotiations on Berlin and a stepped up civilian defense program.

The National Security Council,
embracing the President's top
military and diplomatic advisers, was summoned to meet at the White House this afternoon. Kennedy announced Wednesday that proposals for dealing with the Berlin situation will be discussed.

Proposals for action are going to the President from the State and Defense departments and other government agencies. At Kennedy's request they are being pulled together in a report being prepared by former Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

Highly placed officials indicate that Kennedy, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other administration leaders are thinking of acting on two fronts as the Berlin crisis develops during the next few months:

1. Military—They intend to take steps that would get the United States and its allies ready for a Berlin showdown if Soviet President Khrushchev presses his Berlin demands to that point. At the same time they hope the steps will impress upon Khrushchev the determination of the United States to back up its commitments to protect West Berlin against Communist pressures.

2. Diplomatic—They seriously are considering proposing a new round of East-West negotiations
on Berlin within the framework of the over-all problem of divided Germany. Such a proposal, if finally decided on, probably will be made in the next few weeks.

Kennedy expects to send a note
on the Berlin situation to Khrushchev in a week of 10 days. But as presently planned, this note primarily will be a reply to a memorandum Khrushchev gave Kennedy in Vienna June 24.

The reply is expected to tell Khrushchev formally that his proposed peace treaty with Communist East Germany cannot wipe out Allied rights to maintain forces in West Berlin and to supply them by surface and air routes across East Germany.

Washington officials reported
a new East German regulation decreed Wednesday would be ignored. The regulation states that radio-equipped planes of nations not having air agreements with East Germany must receive special permission after Aug. 1 to cross East Germany. Western rights for air access to West Berlin are in no way dependent upon approval or disapproval of the East German Communists.

Kennedy spoke at his news conference Wednesday of the possibility of negotiations with the Soviet Union on the Berlin problem. He said the United States was ready "to discuss any proposals" which would increase West Berlin's security and independence.

About the same time Khrushchev also said in a speech at the Kremlin that he was prepared to "negotiate honestly."

British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan had mentioned the possibility of negotiations in a statement in Parliament on Tuesday.

U.S. officials said there probably would be some advantage to the Western powers in taking the initiative now in formally proposing negotiations. By that means they might be able to decide at least in part the subject matter of such negotiations.

Khrushchev said there will be no blockade of West Berlin, but there would be a Soviet-East German peace treaty. ## Court Ruling May Knock Out State Aides' Travel Allowance

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Ohio Supreme Court decision may have knocked out use of state-owned cars and travel allowances for about 95 per cent of state officials and employees.

Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy said today he is studying the extent of the decision denying state Treasurer Joseph T. Ferguson a car and travel allowances for official duties.

The upshot of the decision means that the new Oldsmobile 98 desired by Ferguson is going to remain right where it is—in the dealer's show window.

The Ohio Supreme Court
Wednesday unanimously denied Ferguson a writ of mandamus against Finance Director James

H. Maloon, who refused to approve purchase of the big car that ranked above specifications laid down
for state officials.

Ferguson, a Democrat, contended the previous legislature appropriated enough money for a big car and asked that Maloon, another Democrat, be required to buy it or authorize purchase by the treasurer. He further contended that his official duties required state travel and that a car of his choice was a necessity.

Justice C. William O'Neil said:
"There is no statutory authority
for the treasurer of state to expend public funds for his expenses
in traveling about the state of Ohio in the performance of his duties."

The decision did not say whether other elected state officials would be similarly affected.

The car desired by Ferguson was equipped with air conditioning, super-delux radio, an electric seat adjuster and other special devices, in contrast with state-approved models of smaller class
and with fewer extras.

Aides of McElroy said the decision was being studied to determine its extent in event the Legislature might want to take action.

The decision held that in the absence of specific statutory authority, the salary of an elected state official is full compensation for services. That could rule out state cars as well as travel expenses, aides said.

Only a few officials and employees specifically are allowed travel expenses by law.

The decision raises a question of whether even an assistant attorney general assigned to a court case outside Columbus can be reimbursed for travel expenses, Mc-Elroy's aides said.

The court did not rule on the issue of whether Maloon could enforce specifications for purchase of state-owned cars.

al work in India, died Tuesday.

Rice, was president of Forman

Northern Great Plains Area Seared Brown by Drought

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Vast reaches of the usually-green Northern Great Plains are turning brown under a hot sun untempered with cooling summer showers.

The rains have not come. Snow was scarce last winter. The result is not yet a dust bowl, reminiscent of the 1930s, but there is no mistake—a drought grips an area stretching from much of Minnesota through North and South Dakota into the prairie provinces of Canada.

The lack of moisture has struck hard at small grain crops, has hit cattle unable to find the usual lush spring pasture grasses and has spawned scores of forest and brush fires in regions noted for their fire verandcy.

Mass calls for help have gone to Washington from public officials on behalf of farmers.

In North Dakota all but 2 of the 53 counties have been declared drought disaster areas.

Similar designations have been extended to large chunks of South Dakota and northwestern Minnesota.

This means farmers may cut hay and graze cattle on land retired from crop production under the new feed grain program in the soil bank plan instituted several years ago.

Forest fire towers in northern Minnesota, normally deserted in June, are manned around the clock. Palls of smoke from Canadian fires wrapped a dull haze
over parts of Minnesota and North Dakota this week.

Canadian troops have been sent to fight the latest blaze, sweeping the Whiteshell Reserve forest about 100 miles northeast of Winnipeg.

Canadian officials have despaired of saving wheat and other crops in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, where the unseasonable heat has sent the mercury
soaring over 100 in some sections.

Senate Passes Ohio Operating Fund Measure

Republicans Shun
41 Amendments Put Up by Dem Minority

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Stubble-chinned, sleepy and slightly short-tempered, the Ohio Senate wound up an all-night session by passing the $2 billion state government operating funds bill early today.

The vote was strictly along party lines—20 Republicans for, 18 Democrats against.

Announcement of that 20-18 result by the presiding officer, Lt.
Gov. John W. Donahy, sounded
just a bit monotonous.

Throughout the night, and during an almost three-hour floor session
before supper Wednesday, 41 amendments were offered to the bill, which provides $2,025,392,846
to run the state government for the two-year bookkeeping period that starts Saturday.

In almost every case, the vote to table—and therefore kill—the amendment was 20-18, Republicans for, Democrats against. Once in a while, only 19 Republicans were around to vote to kill the amendment, but none of the 41 survived.

If approved, the Democrat-sponsored amendments would have restored funds cut by the House and Senate finance committees from Democratic Gov. Michael V. Di-
Salle's budget recommendations.

Members of the Democratic minority admitted that there was no chance of getting their amendments past the GOP majority. But they said they dragged the session
on through the night just to emphasize their feeling that too much had been trimmed from the budget.

For a time, it appeared the Republicans might have difficulty throwing up a united front. Twenty votes is the bare minimum to pass a bill in the Senate, and at least three GOP senators were known to have disagreed with some of the cuts made in the budget by their colleagues.

But a series of closed-door GOP huddles resolved the matter, and the majority stood shoulder-to-shoulder as amendment after amendment was hurled at them.
The session, which resumed after supper at 8:25, didn't wind up until 5:57 a. m. today.

As the night wore on, there was less and less good-natured banter around the aisle, words became sharper, and tempers shorter. The Republicans ceased to reply to comments by Democrats when the amendments were made, simply moving to lay the amendments on the table. And then the voice roll call would be ticked off again.

Some senators lay on couches
around the edge of the floor area,
many removed their coats and ties, and all appeared to be slightly saddle-sore.

Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem, R-Athens, rose after the last amendment had been offered and beaten down to say: "I am sorry for this spectacle that has occurred on the Senate floor."

He said he had agreed not to cut off debate and indicated he felt he had been imposed upon,
adding: "It has never happened before in my 18 years in the legislature."

The measure travels over to the house today, where it will be rejected as a formality so that a conference committee can be named to iron differences between House and Senate fund cuts.

That committee probably will be named by tonight.
The conference committee will report to both houses at once, perhaps as early as Friday. If both houses accept its report, the bill is considered to be approved and goes to the governor.

Both houses will be in session
Friday, but probably will call it a week and then return Wednesday
after the Fourth of July holiday.
Cloud has indicated he thinks working sessions can wind up a week from today.

Cuts of $26 million were made by the House and about $17 million was trimmed in the Senate.
The conference committee probably will restore some of the fund cuts, however.

Sea Strike Fact-Finder Shows Some Optimism

NEW YORK (AP)—President Kennedy's emergency fact-finding board met with ship owners today
as it strove to settle the 14-day-old maritime strike and avoid a Taft-Hartley injunction.

Board Chairman David L. Cole seemed a bit more optimistic than previously. Asked his view of the situation, he crossed his fingers
and said: "With my fingers crossed, I can't be definite but I feel a little better this morning than yesterday."

Honey Bee Causes Crash

Driver Is Injured.
Auto Catches Fire

An Orient woman was taken to Mt. Carmel Hospital at 3 p. m.
yesterday when her auto was destroyed by flames, about two miles east of Orient on Route 762. A bee in her car was listed as the cause of the accident.

Mrs. Christine Crago suffered a fractured right arm, abrasions of both knees and lacerations of the right arm. The fire caused no injury.

Mrs. Crago told Deputy Sheriff
Neal Childress she attempted to fight off a honey bee that flew in the window. She said her foot accidentally depressed the car accelerator and the vehicle went out of control.

The auto plunged into the ditch,
clipped off a utility pole and was halted when it struck a tree.

CHILDRESS said the auto burst into flames. Elsie Smith, a passerby, pulled Mrs. Crago from the burning auto before the deputy arrived.

The auto was declared a total loss, according to Deputy Childress.

Cuban Aide Sees Tractor Deal as Dead

HAVANA (AP)—A foreign ministry source said today that President Kennedy's comments on the tractors-for-prisoners issue seem to have closed the door to further negotiations.

Kennedy told his Washington
news conference Wednesday that the volunteer committee of Americans had done all it could and it was now up to Fidel Castro to "change his views."

The general feeling here was that the Cuban prime minister won't reduce his demands and if the Tractors for Freedom Committee does not meet them, negotiations are probably ended.

The committee disbanded Friday after Castro rejected its offer of 500 farm tractors—estimated to cost about $3.5 million—in exchange for nearly 1,200 captives
from the ill-fated Cuban invasion.

Castro held out for $28 million worth of tractors or heavy bulldozers and for the second time dispatched a group of prisoners to the United States in an effort to keep talks alive.

Death of Actor Slated for Probe

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The State Bureau of Hospitals will investigate the death of movie actor Jeff Chandler.

"We feel that on the basis of the wide public interest in this case," Gordon R. Cumming, head of the state agency, said Wednesday night, "we should verify that hospital procedures over which we have enforcement responsibility were in order."

Chandler, 42, died June 17 in Culver City Hospital after a series of operations, the first of which was to correct a ruptured spinal disc. The death certificate listed cause of death as shock and vascular collapse, with pneumonitis and an infection of the blood
—staphylococci septicemia—as contributing causes.

Here's a Youngster Who's Grandma-Rich

FAIRFIELD, Vt. (AP) — Relatives got to figuring after hearing of the birth of Jeanette Francis-kovich in Canton, Ill., June 23.
They figured Jeanette has: two grandmothers, two great-grandmothers and three great-greatgrandmothers.

And for good-fairy grandmother measure, Jeanette has one step-great-grandmother and one step-great-great-grandmother.

Grammie-rich Jeanette is the daughter of the former Dianne Sheltra of Fairfield, now Mrs.
Bancil Franciskovich.

Face-Saving Move By Khrush Hinted

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
Associated Press News Analyst

Perhaps concluding it is too
risky to assume the United States is bluffing on the Berlin issue, Nikita Khrushchev appears to be seeking a face-saving way out of an uncomfortable situation—and trying to salvage some profit from it.

The Soviet premier seems to be offering President Kennedy and the Western allies a deal: Just an innocent-looking concession or two in exchange for postponing Khrushchev's year-end deadline
for a perilous showdown on Berlin.

The curious coincidence of Kennedy and Khrushchev statements on the same day concerning the West Berlin issue raises speculation about backstage diplomacy
looking toward some sort of negotiation.

But from President Kennedy the Soviet leader has nothing more tangible than a statement that the United States is ready to discuss any proposals that protect the rights of the people in West Berlin, isolated 110 miles inside Communist East Germany. The President has a little more from Khrushchev: An implication that there is something to negotiate and a statement denying any plans for a new Berlin blockade.

What is behind this guarded Khrushchev?

Khrushchev's maneuvers must be viewed against his plans and problems.

His plans include convening late in October the 22nd congress of the Soviet Communist Party.
There the Kremlin expects to lay down a 20-year program—a model for the whole Red bloc—for the development of Soviet and world communism. Moscow is asserting undisputed leadership in this respect. The October congress will attempt to present Soviet-brand communism to the world as the inevitable wave of the future.

Khrushchev is approaching his all-important October meeting
with his prestige laid on the line.
He has vowed to drive the Western allies out of Berlin by signing
a one-sided peace treaty with East Germany and assigning authority over access to Berlin to East Germany. In this he could travel to the brink of World War
III—at the risk of stumbling over the line—or he could retreat. Either prospect would be unpleasant.

Khrushchev's words Wednesday
—even salted with tough remarks
—had the ring of an appeal to Kennedy to recognize his dilemma. With his prestige at stake, he would like to deliver at least a token result from his repeated Berlin threats.

Khrushchev has described prosperous West Berlin—an open show
window to the eyes of the drab, Communist-ruled East—as a bone
that sticks in the Communist throat. It provides a glaring contradiction to the boast he will present to the October congress in Moscow that capitalism is in the final stage of decline. West Berlin also provides a haven for an endless flow of refugees from

Castro Soldier Gets U.S. Sentence

NEW YORK (AP)—Francisco
(the Hook) Molina, a former soldier in Fidel Castro's Cuban army, was sentenced to 20 years to life today in the death of a girl caught in gunfire between Cuban factions. Castro has sought to trade a leader of the recent invasion for Molina.

Molina was convicted of second-degree murder in the killing of Madelena Urdaneta, 9, a Venezuelan girl who was vacationing
here with her parents.

The family was sitting in a West Side restaurant when gunfire broke out between pro- and anti-Castro groups. This occurred last year while Castro was in New York.

Nixon To Write Book

riences in public life, a spokesman publish the book, reports.

Congress Urged To OK Setup

Group Would Be First In World's History

WASHINGTON (AP)—President
Kennedy proposed today the establishment of a permanent U.S. disarmament agency. It would have sweeping powers to draw up disarmament plans, negotiate and handle enforcement if any international arms-control agreement is reached.

Administration aides contend the new U.S. agency—first of its kind in the world—would underscore the importance the United States attaches to the disarmament problem.

Kennedy sent his proposal to Congress in the form of a bill to set up a "United States disarmament agency for world peace and security."

The new, autonomous federal bureau would replace the
"U.S. Disarmament Administration," which now operates in the State Department under John J.
McCloy, Kennedy's special adviser on disarmament.

The basic idea is to create a long-term agency to deal with a long-term cold-war problem: how to check the spiraling arms race.

A White House statement said
Kennedy's plan would carry out a 1960 Democratic platform promise. The statement said the bill also included elements of a bill for an arms-control research institute Kennedy proposed as a senator.

The new agency would expand
on the disarmament administration that former President Dwight
D. Eisenhower set up last October.

Kennedy wants the new agency
to be headed by a $22,500-a-year, subcabinet-level director, who would be the president's disarmament adviser and would report
both to the president and to the secretary of state.

William C. Foster, who has held important disarmament, foreign affairs and defense jobs under the past two administrations and is assisting McCloy now, has been mentioned for the top post. Mc-Cloy intends to retire.

Preliminary plans call for stepping up the 80-man disarmament
staff to some 200 the first year, raising its budget from $800,000 to $6 or 7 million.

As a starter, the disarmament agency would take on more experts from the State and Defense Departments and other agencies, such as the Atomic Energy Commission.

on the stick.

There have been no inquiries,
but Viel is still waiting.

'Curse' of King Tut Strikes Clan Again

LONDON (AP)—Another member of the British family said to be marked by the legendary curse
of the pharaohs has died an unexpected death, the fourth in the family since 1929.

The death of Lord Westbury was announced today. He died four days ago in Geneva, Switzerland, at the age of 46. The cause of death was not given.

His father, Capt. Richard Beth-ell, also died suddenly and at the same age.

Bethell had a hand in excavating the tomb of the pharaoh, Tutankhamen, in 1923. A curse on a tomb relic said, "Death shall come on swift wings to him that toucheth the tomb of the pharoahs."

Researcher Says Packagers May Prove Selves Morons

WASHINGTON (AP)—“Packaging and labeling practices that silently presume that the consumer is a glib moron can end up to prove the advertisers to be the moron,” a researcher said today.

He is Ernest Dichter, president of the Institute of Motivational Research, Inc. His remarks were prepared for senators trying to find out if housewives are being bamboozled by packaged goods on supermarket shelves.

Dichter, who makes a specialty of studying the psychological motivations of the consumer, said the consumer's sophistication was developing “with galloping and often unsuspected speed.”

“Today, even a 10-year-old knows that testimonials can be bought and that no breakfast cereal will really make him fly like Superman or hit like Mickey Mantle,” Dichter said.

Dichter said he believed deceitful and fraudulent activities in the sale of package consumer goods “will rapidly become unprofitable.”

Less confidence on this point was expressed by two other witnesses called by the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly Subcommittee—Colston E. Warne, president of the Consumers Union, and J. L. Littlefield, chief of the Foods and Standards Division of the Michigan Agriculture Department.

However, Warne saw some hope in what he called “the angry awareness of a growing number of consumers over deceptive packaging.”

Littlefield said enforcement officials should join throughout the nation to eliminate deceptive practices. They should be backed up by whatever legislation may be necessary, he said.

The chairman of the subcommittee, Sen. Philip D. Hart, D., Mich., Tuesday declared that supermarkets “should be as truthful as the neighborhood grocer.”

He had heard testimony about the “jumbo pound” and the “giant half quart” which do little more than confuse the consumer.

“The old-fashioned butcher was often accused of weighing his thumb,” Hart said. “We want to be sure that today's consumer isn't still buying that thumb, but in a fancy package.”

A witness, Sen. Maurine Neuberger, D., Ore., said the shopper shouldn't have to carry a slide rule to the supermarket to compare prices and contents of packages. She called for a law to spell out contents of food packages.

“Large olives are now small ones,” she recalled, “and you have to buy ‘colossal’ or ‘super colossal’ to get a really large olive.”

Writer-housewife Marya Mannes testified that she is afraid that nowadays the word consumer is sometimes spelled s-u-c-k-e-r.

Horrible Accident
Just Family Secret

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—A frantic 3½-hour search was conducted by Akron police and Summit County sheriff's deputies late Wednesday after Mrs. Clara Messner told police she saw a small boy climb into the trunk of a car and close the lid as the car drove away.

The car finally was found parked in front of the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McAviney here. Dennis McAviney, 7, was inside the house safe and sound.

On inspecting the car, police found a hole leading into the trunk in place of the rear seat. McAviney explained that Dennis had climbed into the trunk, slammed down the lid and crawled through the hidden “rear entrance” as the father drove away.

McAviney said his children preferred to enter the car that way.

Rhodes Honors Vigilant Press

“The vigilance of Ohio's newspapers” was credited by State Auditor James A. Rhodes with reducing graft and inefficiency among public officials.

Rhodes, speaking at his second annual Municipal Workshop Forum in Cleveland Wednesday night, told some 125 public officials from four counties that “efforts by local officials combined with constant exposure of misdeeds by newspapers” have produced a marked decline in mishandling of public funds.

Ed Webb Establishes New Recreation Center at Park

A new center of recreation has been added to this community.

Edgar M. Webb, 109 Dunmore Road, has initiated a family recreation center here with the construction of his trampoline center and miniature golf course.

Both the Tramp-O-Leap Center and Miniature golf course are located at Ted Lewis Park, east of the swimming pool.

The trampolines were opened for patronage recently. Since the opening many local youths and adults have discovered a new source of recreation and exercise.

THE COURT consists of ten individual trampolines that are rented to customers for 30 minutes of jumping and fun.

John Current, Circleville High School track and wrestling coach, manages the business for Webb.

Current gives free instruction for both the trampolines and golf course.

The 18-hole miniature golf course offers a challenge to the best of golfers. Obstacle courses such as sand, water, curves and double - curves confront patrons of the petite greens.

The new recreation center will be open from 1 p. m. to 11 p. m. seven days a week throughout the summer.

Webb said a free game is given to golfers who make a hole-in-one on the 18th green of the course.

Scare Method Fails

After studying the outgivings of 200 traffic safety experts using scare techniques to try to quell reckless drivers, a researcher concludes that these methods "raise a high level of fear but then fail to capitalize on the fear by suggesting special actions to reduce it."

Dr. James Malfetti, attached to the safety research project of Columbia University, says in traffic safety drives the scare techniques "are as common as patent medicine. So are claims for their effectiveness. But there is no evidence for these claims."

Most common scare technique is that applied through the mass communications media of the nation — press, TV and radio — by citing forecasts of "experts"

Taking Late Action

After seven years the United States has decided to adhere to the International Convention for Prevention of Pollution of the Sea by Oil.

That's a mouth-filling title defining the effort to prevent shippers of the various nations from dumping their waste oils, chemicals and other materials into the oceans. Such practices have already resulted in death to a great quantity of sea life, principally birds and fish. Beaches and other maritime recreational areas have lost much of their attraction because of the pollution.

The treaty was drafted in London in 1954, with U. S. representatives participating. Canada, Mexico and the maritime nations of Europe signed up. Why the U. S. State Department delayed recommending ratification for seven years is not clear. When the recommendation came through, the Senate approved the treaty unanimously.

Probably the U. S. has not been a big offender, but its influence was needed to bring nations such as Liberia and Panama into the fold. These, among others, register big tanker fleets owned largely by Americans.

If these can be persuaded to sign the treaty, 80 per cent of oil and chemical shipping fleets will be covered. Then a real attack can be made on damage to ocean life through pollution.

With the impact of the world's growing population on future food supplies, all hands had better start becoming concerned about this senseless waste of a supply on which so many peoples rely heavily.

Remarks To Irk Foreigners

NEW YORK (AP)—American-tourists remarks that foreigners get tired of hearing:

"Put a sweater over your bikini, Mildred, and then I'm sure it'll be okay to go into the cathedral. It'll kinda look like you're only wearing shorts."

"Yeah, the room's fine and the view's sure worth $8.50 a day plus breakfast—but, I give up, where you got the TV set hidden?"

"You can call 'em crepe suzettes if you want to, but back home grandma called 'em jelly pancakes."

"Excuse me. Avez vous un...uh...Avez vous une...uh,oh, what the hell! It's like beating your head against concrete."

"This is the kind of foreign

Who Are the Enemies?

We start with the premise that a nation has a moral and a legal right to defend itself against its enemies within and without. The question is: Who is an enemy?

When a nation regards its security imperilled to the degree that it spends $40,000,000,000 a year for its defense, an enemy is anyone who endangers that defense.

In the United States, labor possesses rights by law which are designed to limit the authority of the employer over the employee so that human dignity is not impaired. Thus, the right to strike is inviolate. In the United States, the worker has the right to strike when the government is the employer.

In the development of the missile and the rocket, the government employs a variety of workers who belong to unions, enjoy the right of collective bargaining and who are entitled to strike. The fact is that such a strike could imperil the defenses of the United States and might result in the loss of life in time of war. The significance of this program was stated by General William T. Thurman to be:

"The only effect deterrent to a surprise nuclear attack is a mixed force including advanced aircraft, missiles, and space weapons which are capable of repelling and defeating the military forces of potential enemies and at the same time minimizing the damage to our forces, our Nation, and its people."

He then provided the following information:

"The total dollars currently programmed for ICBM's add up to nearly $12 billion for research, development, test, production, and supporting facilities, and site activation. Approximately 55 separate corporate groups, individual companies, and joint ventures are working directly for the Air Force and the Corps of Engineers."

"These contractors employ over 100,000 people on the program. This number pertains only to prime and associate contractors. A total figure of all companies and employees working on the overall program would include literally that high highway casualties are to be expected on holiday weekends. These forecasts are meaningless in terms of encouraging better driving. And most folk are aware that highway gore is spilled not just on holiday weekends but all the time.

Dr. Malfetti recommends as a better approach to traffic safety the use of "positive emotional appeal." Try to get the drivers in a good frame of mind by suggesting not the horrors of accidents but the joys of coming to a journey's end with safety for yourself and family.

Probably that wouldn't get any more tangible results than scare techniques. Many Americans become daredevils and lawbreakers on streets and highways.

cation for seven years is not clear. When the recommendation came through, the Senate approved the treaty unanimously.

Probably the U. S. has not been a big offender, but its influence was needed to bring nations such as Liberia and Panama into the fold. These, among others, register big tanker fleets owned largely by Americans.

If these can be persuaded to sign the treaty, 80 per cent of oil and chemical shipping fleets will be covered. Then a real attack can be made on damage to ocean life through pollution.

With the impact of the world's growing population on future food supplies, all hands had better start becoming concerned about this senseless waste of a supply on which so many peoples rely heavily.

Organized labor is represented by approximately 30 different unions, industrial and construction."

In a tabulation of figures, General Thurman showed that from the start of construction in 1958, 1959, 1960 through March 13, 1961, there were 195 strikes, involving 50,550 man-days lost at operational sites alone. More than half of this loss is due to organizational efforts and negotiations for new collective bargaining agreements, as though the men were working in a pants factory. The government is involved in jurisdictional disputes among labor unions which grow increasingly more serious as new inventions, devices and material are used in fact, the question might be asked whether Russia's advantage of time has not, in a measure, been due to the time losses.

Involved in all new work is the jurisdictional question as to whether a particular job is industrial or construction work. This not only involves different unions but also different rates of pay. The Secretary of Labor decides the rate of pay; therefore he ipso facto selects the union involved in the particular job.

The Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations of which Senator John L. McClellan of Arkansas is chairman, seeks to discover what the work stoppages on our missile and rocket bases amount to and how costly and dangerous they are to the United States.

General Thurman made this very important explanation of the situation:

"... overtime costs more because of higher wage rates and decreased efficiency and, in such a situation, finding the right balance of work schedules, employment practices, and other factors is a difficult matter. We have found that some generally accepted employment practices affecting overtime costs are not always easily adapted to the unique labor requirements of our construction program at Patrick. Thus, the establishment of 'normal hours of work' and the requirement that overtime rates apply to any work outside the 'normal hours' add to the premium cost of multitask work."

World War I and II were won in the factories of this country. We out-produced the enemy. During this Cold War period, our enemy has equalled and even bettered our production and when a study is made of the evidence, it becomes clear that the labor situation is a big factor in our troubles.

To the worker, a job involves a union and union rules. To the United States, this is a question of survival. A strike at Cape Canaveral might destroy this nation.

I urge all of you to spare no effort needed to save the Walnut Creek covered bridge (especially since latest reports from Ashville have an air of resignation).

There should be a publicity campaign: something in the papers every week to awaken interest. Remind citizens of the county that every day it becomes more precious.

Rockville, Indiana, has kept some 35 such bridges because of their rarity, and they have become a tourist attraction. Two years ago a Dutch friend stopped to take but two snapshots in our county: (1) the covered bridge (utterly unknown in his country); (2) the traffic light at Long and Main, Ashville (Teddy Boor's unique brainchild).

A community which can spend many thousands for a new fangled high school can afford its only antique.

"He's allergic to fur!"

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M. D.

Dear Doctor: Our family doctor never checks us, explains the trouble or advises what to do. He treats everything with a few shots of penicillin. And he hardly ever makes house calls.

I'm not ungrateful. But I'd like to change doctors.

Should I?

Mrs. M. E.

Dear Mrs. E.: Some patients like the strong, silent type; you don't.

Anyway, you wouldn't want a TV repairman who made you bring your set to his store and replaced a few tubes without testing anything.

Is your TV set better than you?

Dear Doctor: What is the source of the term "stone-deaf"?

Mr. G. F.

Dear Mr. F.: "Stone" combines with words to mean "very" or "completely."

A stone has no hearing, no vision.

Mrs. R. R.

Dear Mrs. R.: Your boy's girl chances are still 50-50.

The 140 blood pressure tells the doctor that you're healthy. But it can't predict whether you'll need another doll carriage or new electric trains!

Dear Doctor: Why single out pretzels and ham as examples of salty foods that may aggravate heart failure? How about potato chips, salted peanuts, popcorn, corn curls, herring, etc.?

For those who shouldn't eat salt, the Pretzel Industry makes pretzels without a salty coat. And eating pretzels is one of the healthiest ways to replace salt lost in exercise and exertion.

The National Pretzel Bakers' Institute.

Fellow Pretzel Lovers: No offense intended — especially during your 100th "Pretzelennial." Pretzels are one of our favorite snacks.

But to be fair, let's note that potato chips, salted peanuts, mackerel, pickles, etc., are also healthy ways to replace lost salt.

Dear Doctor: What causes excess hydrochloric acid in the stomach?

Mrs. L. M.

Dear Mrs. M.: Nervous tension, foods and irritated stomach lining!

Modern-day pressures can flood the stomach with acid. The aroma of hamburgers and barbecue on an outdoor fire also start gastric juices flowing.

Alcohol and meat call for lots of acid. Milk slows down acid manufacturing — to erase ulcer pain. But you'll find more than acid behind each ulcer!

Dr. Fern's mailbox is wide open for letters from readers. While he cannot undertake to answer individual letters, he will use readers' questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Fern in care of this newspaper.

The Business World

NEW YORK (AP)—More jobs, higher take-home pay, plentiful bargains, better selections—these are the good things seen in store for you the rest of this year.

Bigger tax bills, costlier services, slightly higher interest rates, and lingering unemployment among the unskilled—these are the bad probabilities.

Both sets are short-term prospects. They are the guesses of the majority of the economic soothsayers, based on indications the economy will enjoy a healthy if quiet summer and move ahead steadily if slowly in the fall.

The experts divide sharply on the longer range outlook. Some see a big upsurge in economic growth, getting under way early next year. The contrary minded fear the current plans to stimulate such growth will bring either a feverish but short-lived boom or a creeping and debilitating inflation.

Let's look at the short term prospects.

JOBS — more but still not enough.

Increasing industrial output already means longer work weeks. And after a summer bobble for plant vacations, it should bring more jobs by fall. The service industries should absorb still more workers. But contraction in unskilled job opportunities is likely to continue for some time.

INCOMES — a bit higher for many.

Wage-scale trends are still upward, with the business recovery encouraging union leaders to ask more and with the effectiveness of Washington's restraint pleas questionable. Corporation profits will still be pinched by rising costs, but dividend payments tend to hold up well. Rents are weakening in a few areas, but rising in others.

MONEY—still fairly easy.

The best bet is that the financial agencies will keep money and credit plentiful if the recovery is at a measured pace. Some relaxing of mortgage terms are in the cards, but other interest rates may stiffen as business picks up.

PRICES—mark ups and mark downs fairly balanced.

The cost of living probably will rise, but with seasonal trends the main influence. In spite of production costs there is much price cutting now in industrial materials. And for consumers keen competition for sales is keeping bargains plentiful. So too is the spread of discount houses into new areas and under new sponsorship by older retailing forms.

SHORTAGES—few if any.

Industry can produce more of almost anything, save its newest products, than Americans are currently prepared to buy. There are eager foreign suppliers looking for openings. Only an international flareup could change the general picture.

Kennedy's Farm Plan Is Shelved

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Agriculture Committee has plowed under the key provision of the Kennedy administration's farm plan—a provision to let farmers have a hand in drafting controls.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., said Wednesday the provision—which he called the "take it or leave it" feature & appears dead for this session of Congress.

By a 9-8 vote, the committee rejected the proposal that programs for individual commodities be drawn up by the secretary of agriculture and farmer advisory committees, subject to congressional veto.

Woman Found Sane, Slated To Stand Trial

WEST UNION, Ohio (AP)—A 49-year-old former lay preacher will be tried in Adams County Court Aug. 28 on a charge of first-degree murder.

The court Tuesday declared Mrs. Dora Luter, formerly of near Cedar Mills, legally sane. She was recently released from the Lima State Hospital for the criminally insane where she was committed Nov. 5, 1954.

Mrs. Luter was arrested after the body of her 21-year-old daughter-in-law Edith was discovered in her house July 5, 1954. The older Mrs. Luter was then preaching at Covington, Ky., and was arrested after her return. Her son, Robert, was in the armed forces at the time.

Officials said that Mrs. Luter told them her daughter-in-law had been asleep since she rebuked her during a family praying session about April 19 that year. Exact cause of death was not determined.

According to officials, "rebuking" in Mrs. Luter's Pentecostal faith means physical rebuke, such as shaking.

Ohio Fuel Gas Plans To Replace Pipeline

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Fuel Gas Co. plans to start work soon on a $180,000 major pipeline replacement project extending through Meigs, Athens and Hocking counties.

The lines connects with one which brings out-of-state gas to the Ohio side of the Ohio River opposite Ravenswood, W. Va. From there the line goes northwestward through Meigs, Athens, and Hocking counties for 64 miles to Ohio Fuel's Crawford compressor station at Sugar Grove.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beefsteak leads the parade of bargains among Fourth of July weekend specials featured by supermarkets and neighborhood stores.

Porterhouse, sirloin and round steaks are in the spotlight.

Prices of sirloin are down 7 to 20 cents a pound from last week, depending on the area.

Beef, pork and lamb prices have been reduced because of the competition from poultry, which is at the lowest level since World War II.

Fryers, because of their attractive price, are widely featured.

Shrimp tops are the fish specials. Others include crab, salmon, lobster and halibut.

Egg prices are moving up. Increases from last week ranged in various areas from 4 to 5 cents a dozen for large whites.

Best buys among vegetables are beets, carrots, Florida celery, endive, escarole, green onions, radishes, parsley, all varieties of greens, lettuce and green and yellow squash.

Among good buys are asparagus, cabbage, California celery, corn, cucumbers, eggplant, potatoes from Virginia and the Carolinas, Chinese cabbage, watercress, Italian peppers, broccoli and green peas.

Good buys include apricots, blueberries, honeydew melons, peaches, nectarines, grapes, small California oranges and avocados.

Lana Turner's Child Committed

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Cheryl Crane, 17-year-old daughter of movie star Lana Turner, has been admitted to the Institute of Living for psychiatric treatment.

Miss Crane, Miss Turner and her mother's fifth husband, rancher Fred May, arrived Tuesday.

The girl, a ward of the state of California since she slew her mother's boy friend Johnny Stompanato in 1958, was admitted to the institute voluntarily, said Dr. Gordon Edgren, assistant medical director. He said he could not estimate how long she would stay.

Miss Crane, whose father is Stephen Crane, Miss Turner's second husband, has run away from several homes for girls.

Jazz Festival Due To Open in Newport

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Newport is determined to have harmony on the bandstand and in the city as well when thousands of young enthusiasts mass for the four-day jazz festival beginning Friday.

Elaborate plans have been made to keep order this year. The 1960 festival was abbreviated in a riot of flying bottles, clubs and tear gas grenades.

It took the combined forces of police, National Guards, Navy shore patrols and Marines to break up the riot.

Big names in jazz are luring heavy advance reservations for the 14,000 seats in the jazz center in Freebody Park.

The city's police force (77 men, 1 woman) is being augmented by 135 police from other parts of Rhode Island, plus 5 Newport auxiliaries who will patrol residential areas. A Newport citizens band of radio operators—20 men—will maintain police communications. State police will be on standby.

Some 50 Pinkerton agents, plus a police squad of 18 plain clothesmen will infiltrate the crowds. Two extra patrol wagons and 25 police cars have been lined up.

In the event of serious emergency, Rhode Island Gov. John Notte is ready to send in the National Guard. The city is assured of the aid of Navy shore patrols.

Raisin bread pudding becomes something extra - special when it is served with hard sauce flavored with rum.

A Sauce-y Chocolate Frosting

What's sauce for the pudding may be frosting for the cake! This fine sauce with the rich flavor of unsweetened chocolate can be made into a frosting just by adding two cups of sugar to the basic recipe.

Fudge Sauce and Frosting
5 squares unsweetened chocolate 1 1/2 cups (1 tall can) undiluted evaporated milk
1/2 cup butter or margarine 1 1/4 teaspoons vanilla
3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar

Melt chocolate and butter in saucepan. Remove from heat. Add sugar, alternately with milk, blending well after each addition. Place over medium heat and bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Then cook and stir about 8 minutes, or until mixture becomes thick and creamy. Remove from heat and stir in vanilla. Serve warm as a sauce. Makes 3 cups sauce.

To Make Frosting, use 2 cups of the above recipe and cool to room temperature. Then add an additional 2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar, blending well. Makes 2 1/2 cups frosting, or enough to cover tops and sides of two 8- or 9-inch layers, or 24 cupcakes.

Dear Abby...

By Abigail VanBuren

Don't Believe Everything

DEAR ABBY: I am going with a man who was married before. He has been a perfect angel to me. He knows I dislike drinking, so he has not touched a drop since we started going together. He is always thoughtful and considerate, and I think he will make a fine husband. My problem is this: His ex-wife paid me a "friendly" visit. She told me he was the world's worst husband. She said he drank like a fish, chased around, and she could never believe a word he said. I am confused now. Should I believe his ex-wife or should I judge him from his actions with me?

CONFUSED
DEAR CONFUSED: If this man is good to you, it is apparent that you bring out the best in him. His ex-wife evidently brought out the best. Judge him for what he is.

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend is overseas in the Service. My problem is he hardly ever writes! Sometimes two and three weeks will go by without a letter from him. I write to him almost every day, and I am getting tired of this one-sided correspondence. When he does write, he says he loves me and there is nothing to do over there, so there is nothing to write about. Is this possible? Do you think I ought to write and tell him if he can't do any better than this I am going to drop him?

THE GIRL AT HOME
DEAR GIRL: Write him all the home town news. Send him clips from the local paper and ask him what he thinks about what you've sent. But, for goodness sakes, don't threaten to drop him. He needs your letters more than ever now.

DEAR ABBY: Recently I started to share an apartment with another girl. We get along fine except for one thing. She has a fiancé who is a very large fellow. And so is his appetite. He comes to our apartment almost every night for dinner. On week-ends he sleeps on our couch.

My roommate and I agreed to split the expenses down the middle. This includes groceries. Do you think I should be paying for half the groceries when her fiancé eats almost all of them? (He drinks four bottles of beer in one evening.)

This is my first experience with a roommate, and I don't want to cause hard feelings. How should I handle this?

ROOMMATE
DEAR ROOMMATE: It would appear that you have TWO roommates—not one. Therefore, the expenses should be divided into three parts—like Gaul, (which is something your roommate has plenty of). Find another roommate. You are being had.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LONG TAIL SAIL": Don't expect him to call. Why should a man run after a train he's already caught?

What's bothering you? For a personal reply, write to Abby, Box 365, Beverly Hills, Calif. Include a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Community College Bill Nears Approval

OSU Research Center
Plan Given Start
On Bumpy Journey

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A chance for Ohio to create branch university districts, technical institutes and two-year community colleges was just one step away from the governor's desk today.

But another plan, to start a super - research center at Ohio State University, has just started along the bumpy legislative trail.

The educational action all occurred in the Ohio House Wednesday while representatives awaited the return of the $2 billion appropriation bill being fought over in the Senate.

The community college bill cleared the House on a vote of 119-6 and the bill for university branches and technical institutes swept through unopposed, 134-0. Both measures, however, must go back to the Senate for action on amendments before they can go to the governor for signing into law.

The super research center proposal did not have the same solid support.

The proposal, calling for a popular vote next November on the center, finally went to the Senate following a 95-36 vote, but there was some strong criticism from minority Democrats.

House Minority Leader James A. Lantz, D-Fairfield, said it was difficult for him to reconcile what he termed deficit financing for the center with House and Senate cuts in appropriations for state universities.

The proposal, sponsored by House Speaker Roger Cloud, R-Logan, and Rep. Jesse Yoder, D-Montgomery, requires voter approval to release a $15 million surplus created in a fund to retire capital improvement bonds.

In defending his proposal, Cloud asserted:

"The Midwest has not kept pace in the world of exotic industries. Ohio ought to move up." He said the center would emphasize research in electronics and nuclear sciences.

Rep. Kenneth A. Robinson, R-Marion, added that Ohio has dropped from second in the nation in research to fifth or sixth in recent years.

Very little argument could be found for the community college bills.

Branch university districts could be created in cities, counties or a combination of such areas containing a population of at least 50,000. Local technical institutes or a community college for instruction in the arts and sciences could be created if the population in similar areas is at least 100,000.

Technical institutes would have power to propose bond issues and tax levies. A board of seven members serving five-year terms appointed locally would be empowered to draft an official plan for the institute and set student fees to be used for operations.

Community college districts, created by local authorities, would be operated by a seven-member board selected by local officials.

Appeals Court Shuns Bid in Mail Fraud Case

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Mansfield man's motion to have a two-year federal prison sentence vacated has been turned down by the U.S. Court of Appeals. The court Wednesday refused the motion of Robert D. Perry, 35, who was sentenced in Cincinnati Feb. 18, 1960, after pleading guilty to mail fraud charges. Perry contended his civil and constitutional rights had been violated.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's like playing a slow waltz on an old phonograph record all over again. Almost move by move, statement by statement, Russia and the West are going through a repetition of the Berlin problem of 1958-1959.

That time Premier Khrushchev threatened a showdown in six months but let it melt away. Now he's set another six-month deadline.

Maybe now it will reach a crisis. Maybe it won't since neither Khrushchev nor the West wants war.

It's possible he's stirring the Berlin kettle, with all its dangers, just to get concessions later from the worried West on something not now guessed.

Here's a quick run-down on the similarity:

1. Khrushchev proposed West Berlin be made a "free city" with the Allies pulling out their troops (Nov. 27, 1958).

Khrushchev at the Vienna meeting with President Kennedy earlier this month proposed the same thing. (June 4, 1961).

2. President Eisenhower said this country had a firm obligation defend the people of West Berlin. (Jan. 7, 1959).

Kennedy said the Allies are determined to maintain their Berlin rights "at any risk" and their obligations to the Berliners. (Jan. 6, 1961).

3. Soviets called for a 28-nation conference to negotiate peace treaty based on reunification of Germany. (Jan. 19, 1959).

Soviets proposed calling a peace conference on a German peace treaty. (June 11, 1961).

4. Walter Ulbricht, Communist boss of East Germany, pledged there would be no blockade if the West "respected" East Germany's "sovereignty," although the West doesn't recognize East Germany as a sovereign government. (Jan. 18, 1959).

Khrushchev said there would be no blockade of Berlin. (June 27, 1961).

5. Khrushchev warned it would be the "beginning of war" if the Allies tried to force their way through to Berlin, although, in view of Ulbricht's promise of no blockade, no force would seem necessary. (Feb. 18, 1959).

Khrushchev, while saying there would be no blockade, warned the Western powers they'd get their come-uppance if they tried any rough stuff. (June 27, 1961).

6. In early 1959 Eisenhower

Pickaway Fair Notes

Pickaway County's 1961 Fair will hold forth starting July 31 and extend through August 5.

Pickaway County Agricultural Society membership tickets are available now. They may be purchased from William Cook, Fair secretary, board members of the Agricultural Society or from various 4-H Club members.

The membership tickets entitle persons to admission to the Fair at any time and provides the right to vote for directors in the fall. No person may be elected to the board of directors unless he or she is a member of the Agricultural Society.

This year Pickaway County Commissioner Charles Morris has made a personal donation of $25 which will be awarded to the club or organization selling the most membership tickets.

Secretary Cook today reminded persons and clubs selling the tickets that money and unsold ducats should be returned to his office at the Coliseum before noon July 31.

Well Rooted

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — When Charles Chittum pulled up roots and left Virginia he neglected some of them — sassafras roots. Now, 77, Chittum addressed a letter to the "Best Banker" at Roanoke and asked that some sassafras roots be sent to him at Omaha, Neb. He got the roots for the tea he said he needed as a spring tonic.

By James Marlow

said—because of talk about mobilizing to defend Berlin—mobilization would be disastrous. Kennedy, asked Wednesday about talk of mobilization said no such proposal had come to him.

7. Eisenhower told the Russians to cut out making threats. (Jan. 1, 1959).

Kennedy told the Russians to cut out making threats. (June 27, 1961).

8. State Department said the United States would insist on discussing Berlin only as part of the wider problem of German unity. (Jan. 24, 1959).

Kennedy said discussions with Russians would be profitable if they'd accept self-determination for East and West Berliners and Europe — meaning the satellites, which would mean some unity. (June 27, 1961).

9. Eisenhower said the United States would be glad to join Russia in "any talks that deal fruitfully with the differences between our different people and our different governments." (Jan. 28, 1961).

High government officials said they're considering proposing a new round of East-West talks on Berlin within the framework of the over-all problem of divided Germany. (June 28, 1961).

10. Soviet and Western foreign ministers—at the suggestion of the West—met from May 11, 1959 to July 13, 1959 to talk about Berlin and Germany. About all they agreed on was to give up trying to agree. So they went home.

There'll probably be a foreign ministers meeting in 1961.

11. Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, then assistant Democratic Senate leader, proposed on his own a plan for solving the Berlin dilemma. Khrushchev thought it was good but West German Chancellor Adenauer wanted no part of it. (Feb. 12, 1959).

On June 14, 1961, Sen. Mansfield, now Democratic leader in the Senate, apparently on his own proposed pretty much the same plan. It got a dim reception in Germany. Khrushchev was somewhat approving, but not altogether.

See Big Sales Boom In Home Water Softeners

By LeROY POPE
United Press International

NEW YORK — The home water softener has a good chance of jumping its sales to $250 million this year and of almost doubling that by 1965, according to President James Lindsay of the Union Tank Car Co.'s Lindsay Division.

"The industry, which still is a mere infant, should sell between 475,000 and 500,000 home units this year," Lindsay said.

"That's 75,000 to 100,000 above last year. And we have a huge market to nibble at in coming years. More than 85 per cent of the country has water hard enough to need immediate treatment."

After a quarter of a century of trying, the home water softener industry has only succeeded in saturating about seven per cent of its potential market, according to Lindsay.

THE REASON that progress will be faster from now on, he said, is because the new units are small and long-lasting and require little in the way of plumbing installation. They no longer are so large and unwieldy that they have to be relegated to the basement.

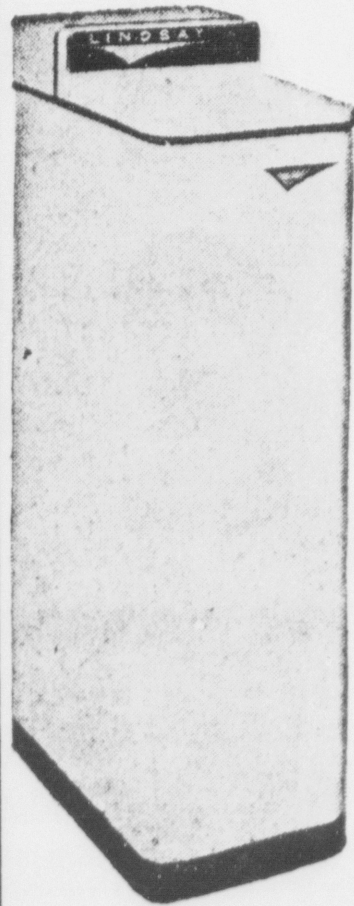

The Midwest, Southwest and Far West generally have the hardest water. The Southeast and East the softest.

Women appreciate soft water, Lindsay said. He recalled that not so long ago they would set out barrels to catch rain water in order to wash their hair in it.

MEN DISLIKE shaving in hard water. They also are vocal about the dollar losses when hard water corrodes brass and copper plumbing fixtures and tears clothing, Lindsay said.

Contrary to expectations, damage to clothing by hard water is nearly three times as great as the damage to plumbing, he said.

More singers are urgently needed for this service. All are invited to attend the rehearsal.

The Ashville - Harrison Volunteer Fire Department made a run Monday morning at 10:45 a. m. to the north end of Ashville to extinguish a blaze in a rubbish truck owned by Marvin Gamble. No damage was reported.

Ashville Community Club members have been busy the last few days painting the picnic equipment at the park. It has taken on a bright new appearance.

The Bastian Funeral Home made the following ambulance runs this past week: Friday, June 16, returned Alva Welch home from Mercy Hospital to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Howard Runkle, Walnut Creek Pike; and on the same day took Mrs. Ramah Adams of Sher-Lin Trailer Park to Lockbourne Air Force Base Hospital. On Saturday, June 17 took Mike Perrill, son of Gordon Perrill, to Mercy Hospital.

Counts Garden Is Bird Haven

But There Is Room For Cats and Flowers

Mrs. Paul Counts, Route 2, explained that life was so full of interesting things to do she found herself with a finger in too many pies.

She'd like to spend more time in her garden. And she would like to really make a study of ornithology.

"But then," she laughed, "I like cats, too. And if you really want to study birds seriously you have to get rid of the cats."

So she just goes along and enjoys the little surprises that life has in store for her.

THE COUNTS' home is a couple of hundred yards off the highway.

There are many shade trees wild cherry, maple, oak, locust and walnut in the yard. And a very favorable place for birds although Mrs. Counts thought the birds preferred nesting along the railroad track where there were no cats.

Besides the cats and the birds there is space a plenty for a vegetable garden, a chicken house and yard, a garden of annuals and a perennial border.

We had missed the peonies with the exception of a new late white one which was indeed beautiful. But the cornflowers, poppies, roses, feverfew and daisies were blooming.

Mrs. Counts has both the single and double feverfew. She made a classic remark about this much loved self-seeding plant: "I'm very fond of feverfew. It sort of takes the place of weeds."

This tickled us and a good many times since our visit with Helen Counts we've looked out on a weedy portion of our garden and wished for some feverfew.

MRS. COUNTS took us into her livingroom through the kitchen where the strawberry jam looked very beautiful with the sun gleaming through it.

The Counts have a small concrete patio at their back door with a few flowers bordering it. But the piece-de-resistance is the tiny mud room where galashes and overcoats may be removed before entering the kitchen.

Mrs. Counts, who is a member of the Deercreek Garden Club, has a shadow box on her livingroom wall. The arrangement within was of evergreen with a cardinal for an accessory.

The Counts' are exceedingly fond of cardinals and for that reason their bird food includes lots of sunflower seeds.

The picture window in the livingroom has a unique bird feeder which Paul Counts contrived and which he should patent we think.

There are neat metal bleachers for the birds to perch on while they eat from the long plastic feeders which hold the seeds.

WE REGARDED this bird feeder as a very special contrivance. Placed as it is against the window it is scarcely noticeable unless the birds are using it. Then one has a fine view of the birds at their feeding station.

The Counts were telling us about a mother kilderer that built her nest in the gravel along the driveway, everytime a car drove past the bird jumped off her nest and dragged her wing along the ground to attract attention away from the eggs.

She was off her nest so much the Counts' feared the eggs would never hatch. But three babies eventually emerged from the eggs and the fourth egg was abandoned.

One gets an excellent view of Helen Counts' perennial border, from the picture window. It is planted against a white picket fence and the red roses, and daisies which were blooming showed up to an excellent advantage from the picture window.

Hostess at Adena Remembers Enjoyable Work with Roses

OLD FAVORITE — This striped red and white rose is a great favorite among old fashioned roses. This is true, no doubt, because of the legend which surrounds it. The red rose was the emblem of the Duke of Lancaster, the white rose the emblem of the Duke of York. The war fought between these two houses was known as the War of the Roses. Henry VII of the House of Lancaster decided to end the struggle by marrying Elizabeth, sister of Edward V and heiress to the House of York. Legend says that upon their marriage the red rose became streaked with white and the white rose mottled with red.

Editor's Note: Mrs. L. D. Howe Chillicothe, came to know and love old roses when she was hostess at Adena. Visitors who were escorted through the old mansion never failed to remark on the beauty of the Colonial arrangements. Invariably it was Mrs. Howe who created the lovely bouquets. We asked Mrs. Howe to do an article about old roses. It follows.

By LOUISE M. HOWE
My first and most delightful experiences with old roses began in the year 1953 when I served as Hostess at "Zdena" the restored mansion of Thomas Worthington, at Chillicothe.

During the morning hours when the dew clung to every petal, it was a real joy to walk the gravelled paths among the various beds and admire the many varieties. The delightful hours spent cutting and arranging the blooms for added beauty indoors still remain a prized memory.

The Austrian copper, a bi-color of orange - scarlet always proved a great favorite but, due to its short-lived blooms remained on the bush to be admired.

Others such as the French rose with its large flowers in pink or white or the moss rose with its sticky, mossy stalk and many petals would merit a place of honor on the table in the state dining room.

THE DAINTY little fairy rose which grows just a foot high made an excellent border flower but never fell victim to my snippers.

History tells us the pink rose, called the Mary Washington, was planted and named for the General's Mother. The fragrant white, velvet-textured Nellie Custis rose has often been called the flower of romance.

The Scotch rose with its rounded garden beauty produces flowers of white in one large bloom and the plant remains green most of the growing season.

Many will recall the lovely yellow buds and blooms of the variety named "Harrison's Yellow". It seemed to flourish in every back yard of Grandmother's day.

The red and white semi-double flowers of the York and Lancaster roses are considered the most ancient, having derived their names from the respective Houses that wore the colors in the War of the Roses.

Most varieties of old roses need little care and will grow in ordinary soil, but require drastic pruning, even in the growing season.

Keep the faded flowers picked and the ground clean of fallen petals. The compensation will be great in the end for the old roses will bring happiness of the past into our every day living.

Ohio's Mrs. Schulke Earns Second Place In Rose Tournament

Mrs. Orrion Kattman, Evansville, Ind., was the winner in the sixth annual Sterling Bowl tournament held recently at the Jackson and Perkins Rose Gardens, Newark, N. Y.

Ohio's Zelda Wyatt Schulke was runner up in the national rose arranging contest. Mrs. Schulke earned second place.

Mrs. Schulke, a popular lecturer on the art of arranging, is known throughout Ohio for her work.

Mrs. Schulke chose the 1962 All America award winning hybrid tea rose, King's Ransom, for the rose she featured in her arrangement.

THE CO-SPONSOR of the tournament with the Jackson and Perkins Co. was the Sterling Silver Smith's of America.

Judges were three of the previous winners of the tournament. They were: Mrs. John W. Minton, Roswell, N. M., Mrs. T. Bromley Flood, North Wales, Pa. and Mrs. John W. Knight, Cuyahoga Falls.

Flower Show Color Classes Cause Trouble

It has been my privilege to be a member of many a flower show schedule committee. For years, each time the chairman would ask if anybody had an idea for a flower show theme I'd pipe up with a suggestion.

The suggestion had to do with "Rainbow". If it were a spring show I'd suggest "Spring Rainbow" or a summer show I'd say "Summer Rainbow."

Finally I gave up the struggle. I had to admit I was licked. Nobody wanted any part of a rainbow.

The reason for this suggestion was that at flower shows I had noticed that color classes were always striking. Were it a class called for green, the sight of so many all green arrangements gave a view of considerable splendor. Or if the class called for yellow flowers the scene was equally beautiful.

SO WHY are people opposed to color classes? No classes compare to color classes in making trouble and causing controversy.

If it's a class for violet then somebody is sure to include red violet which is not violet at all or blue violet which is actually a different hue.

So there's argument, controversy, hard feelings and what have you all because its a color class.

If a class calls for shades of green this means everything in the arrangement must be an increasingly darker shade of the same hue.

For instance, in such a class if the material included some yellow green the judge would feel the schedule had not been followed.

It all seems to be a matter of wording and understanding of color terms but the classes, outstanding as they are, always end in controversy.

3 Ohio Scientists Cited for Research

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Three Ohio scientists today were awarded Charles B. Dudley medal in recognition of their research with high strength materials.

The recipients, all employees at Lewis Research Center in Cleveland, are William F. Brown Jr., Bay Village, George B. Espey, Lorain and Melvin H. Jones, Olmstead Falls.

MRS. JAMES HOTT IN HER GARDEN — This well known gardener is pictured here in her beautiful border of perennials waiting for visitors from Columbus who toured several local gardens recently. The stately spires are foxglove which she has successfully grown. Mrs. Hott lives in Ashville and her lovely garden is something of an landmark. Other gardens toured were those of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hedges, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hoover and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Watt. (Photo by Ron Warren)

Hoovers Maintain Lovely Border of Fine Perennials

By MRS. ELIZABETH JONES

Mrs. Clyde Hoover lives on Route 23 where the road to Ashville angles off to form a triangle. The Hoover home is located within the triangle.

Mrs. Hoover says that she had her eye on this location many years ago and planned a home with a perennial border all around the yard in her imagination.

And eventually things turned out just the way she planned them.

Last year the garden page carried a feature story about Mrs. Hoover's outstanding herbaceous border. The borders were new then.

THIS YEAR the borders are nothing short of magnificent. No where in this part of Ohio do we know of perennial borders that can compare in dimensions, variety and beauty.

We visited Mrs. Hoover on June 19. The borders were a mad riot of color. Mrs. Hoover doesn't have a half a dozen plants of one variety—she actually has hundreds. Not all are planted together but in drifts in the long borders. She had many spired perennials which always add immeasurably to the beauty of such a planting.

The fascinating part about this garden is that Mrs. Hoover raises by far the largest majority of her perennials from seeds. Ask any gardener and she will tell you it's quite a step from a package of seeds to a handsome blooming clump. But that is what this extraordinary gardener has accomplished a thousand times.

The week before our visit we had passed the Hoover's house and had wondered what the plant was that bore the spikes of lavender flowers. It's a purple salvia of some sort, Mrs. Hoover said. This particular shade of lavender interplanted among the bright colors of the other perennials blended well with everything.

It was hardy salvia and comes in both purple and lavender.

Just a few of the perennials blooming in this garden were delphinium, lupine (keep lupine watered says Mrs. Hoover) penstemon, foxglove, lythrum, anchusa, gaillardia, roses, sundrops, iris armeria, columbine sweet William, lavender and coryopsis.

THE MALTESE cross, which is poppy red, was very much in evidence in the borders. When used in profusion this is indeed eye-catching.

We suggested that Mrs. Hoover open her garden to the public for a few days each season. But she said, "Anybody who is interested is welcome to visit the garden."

So there you have it an invitation to inspect at close range one of the finest herbaceous borders in Ohio.

Mrs. Hoover is just about the most dedicated gardener we know. We have used this term frequently about people who give all their spare hours to gardening. But here's a woman who gives her entire time to the garden. And you won't wonder about it when you see the vast extent of her gardening operations.

Mrs. Hoover says no matter how frustrated she feels, just give her a hoe and she'll regain her peace of mind.

Mrs. Hoover can make growing perennials from seed look very easy. She plants seeds thickly in ordinary flower pots. It's easier to keep track of them than if they were planted in the open ground, she says. When they germinate and are small plants she repots them in small individual pots and eventually they go out in the border.

Euonymous Fine with Evergreens

By TIM TEEGARDIN

In the last column I discussed the importance of keeping the landscaping of your home simple. By no means did I mean that you had to stick to a cut-and-dried design in order to have a beautiful home.

There are many original designs consisting of a mixture of evergreens, flowers and deciduous shrubs that are beautiful.

This topic of deciduous shrubs is an important one, since it can become a part of your basic planting, without interrupting any natural flow in the design. One of the most common and most used of these deciduous shrubs is the Euonymus.

Of the euonymus family I think the Euonymus Alatus Compacta, or the burning bush is the favorite. This burning bush is a bushy, low growing, hardy shrub.

IN THE fall the leaves change from a jade green to an eye catching brilliant rosy - crimson.

This is a plant that can be used between the low spreaders, in order to fill in, or to break up a long line. However, in the winter this plant does lose its leaves.

If this plant is used with the basic evergreens and not entirely alone, this will not take away any beauty, and to pun, this is the beauty of the plant.

Flowers Are Always Found In Garden at Bumgardners

We suspect that it would be mighty hard to catch Mrs. Dorsey Bumgardner, Route 2, at a time when she did not have flowers in her garden.

Late June, after the peonies and iris have had their day, is not the most auspicious moment to visit a garden. But Mrs. Bumgardner's was equal to the test.

Mrs. Bumgardner (Deercreek Garden Club) is an accredited judge in the Ohio Association of Garden Clubs, an arranger of skill and a fine horticulturist.

We expected to find many different kinds of flowers in her garden and we did even though the day before she had sent roses and delphinium to a church for wedding decorations.

LIKE THE gardens of most arrangers we know, the emphasis was in variety. And like all good horticulturists, Mrs. Bumgardner had grown many of her plants under a glass jar from a slip or cutting.

Mrs. Bumgardner was just back from a week at Lakeside where she had been attending a church conference. And besides acquiring some spiritual ideas she had also brought back an interesting plant, identified as one of the campanul-

as. It has a cluster of purple bells at the end of the stem. She said Mary Shortridge told her the common name was chimney top. Mrs. Bumgardner said it had been used in arrangements in the hotel lobby.

Most of the Bumgardner flowers are planted in beds around the house, some near the front fence and many of the choicest back of the house in the vegetable garden.

In bloom at the time of our visit

were roses — many choice varieties — delphinium, tall yellow spikes of thermopsis (looks like a yellow lupine) globe thistle and a wonderful new plant (as far as I am concerned) purple salvia.

Purple salvia is a spike plant and the tiny purple florets are tightly massed along the stem. It's a plant of considerable grace and blends to advantage with the pinks and yellows, reds and oranges. Here's a new plant that would be a blessing to any garden.

THEN there were coral bells and columbines still blooming, and one little French anemone. Mrs. Bumgardner had planted her anemone bulbs in a basin because they looked delicate. She'll plant them later with her other anemones to the north side of her house where they bloom successfully year after year.

One interesting flower was centranthus rubra. It's a dark pink perennial with dainty florets making up the flower head. This belongs to the Valerian family and is not common locally.

A Dr. Van Fleet was blooming along one fence. And another vine, porcelain berry, with its deeply lobed leaves, grew near the house.

Mrs. Bumgardner had plants of Scotch broom (very hard to grow around here) pyracantha heavy with green berries which will later turn orange, a wild garden with Jack-in-the-pulpit and wild geraniums.

In season, Mrs. Bumgardner has just about everything. There were evidences of spent peonies, and iris. She had daffodils in April and will have day lilies in July.

ONE PERFECT ROSE — This beautiful Peace rose was grown by Mrs. Leslie Dearth, Route 1, Kingston. And one perfect rose is not the easiest thing from which to make an arrangement. Mrs. Dearth combined stately iris foliage, two privet branches and feathery smoke bush. The "smoke" was the same exquisite coloring of the rose. Later the smoke will turn a dusky pink. Mrs. Dearth created this arrangement at the Logan Elm Garden Club workshop.

ax plants. She purchased this desirable addition to her garden in North Carolina. They are shade loving and Mrs. Bumgardner has seen that they have shade.

We venture to guess she is the only gardener in Pickaway County with Galax.

Mrs. Bumgardner is going to get around to landscaping her place some of these days. But if you're an arranger and a horticulturist like Mrs. Bumgardner, why worry about landscaping. The garden's too much fun the way it is.

Garden Gossip

Mrs. Judson Beougher identifies strange flowers by their odor. I had taken some blossoms of a dwarf clematis. She did not recognize the flower until she smelled it.

Dwarf clematis is a pleasant little plant. The flowers are small and white, about an inch and a half in diameter. It blooms in late June and has attractive foliage.

Be sure to find out about purple and lavender salvia. It is a new flower to me and a very lovely one. The leaves are coarse and large, not at all like the blue salvia that blooms later.

Mrs. Pryor Harmount identified the two white birds that circled our pond several times then dipped down into it like a swallow as terns.

MRS Harmount says that swallows eat their food on the wing and a cold spring like this results in a food shortage for them. The purple martins came very late this year.

Better late than never! Mrs. Clyde Hoover has 30 purple martin couples nesting in her purple martin apartments.

Mrs. Bishop Given, Route 2, Circleville, has made quite a study of birds. We understand she is some something of an authority on them. Givens do not have cats because of their birds.

But the birds, ungrateful creatures, must be bothering the Given strawberries. They had gasoline pennants suspended over the strawberry patch to frighten the birds away.

We noticed some people had used the aluminum pans that sweet rolls come in to frighten the birds

away. They just string them along the berry patch.

Corilla Pontius has had luck scaring birds away by placing a garden hose in the berry patch. The birds thought it was a snake.

HELEN Counts said they had put a piece of garden hose in the cherry tree one year and the next thing they knew there was a real snake in the tree. I trust a piece of garden hose will not always attract snakes.

Will Fischer said his neighbors in Hocking County (He has a cottage there) are quite fond of black snakes. I believe he said he liked them too.

Mrs. Pontius is a great one to go by the Almanac. She planted a

We Will Be Closed Monday and Tuesday July 3rd and 4th

Clifton Motor Sales

completely dead rose. It came to life immediately and is leafing out nicely. She attributes this to the fact that she planted it under the sign of cancer.

Mrs. Pontius told me when I planted my seeds that the sign was right. Sure enough they have all come up and I generally have abominable luck with seeds.

Mrs. Pontius and Kelson Bower were discussing Almanac planting. He said that a Kingston acquaintance had told him that if he cut Canadian thistle at a certain time in August it would not come up again.

Since Kelson Bower had spent about $100 last year for spray to kill his Canadian thistles and they had all come back promptly this year, he told his acquaintance he'd just give him the $100 this year instead of buying spray materials. Mrs. Bower said she's insist on a written guarantee if she were in her husband's place.

DAN Graham, S ringtown, says if you cut thorn tree down in August they will not sprout from the roots.

Mrs. Lawrence McKenzie, Pickaway Twp., has beautiful Madonna lilies.

MRS. LESLIE Dearth is growing fine roses this year. She had a Peace rose at the workshop that was seven inches in diameter.

Bums Pick Up Half Game on Leading Reds

Cincinnati Drops Pair of Games as Cubs Go on Rampage

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The second place Los Angeles Dodgers, with expected ace Don Drysdale (5-5) still winless against the first division, lost 9-3 at Pittsburgh Wednesday night and picked up only a half-game on Cincinnati in the National League race.

Cincinnati came off with a 2-4 game lead although dropping a doubleheader to the Chicago Cubs 16-5 and 7-2.

Third place San Francisco four times blew leads and wound up with a 7-7, 15-inning tie at Philadelphia in the longest night game (5 hours, 11 minutes) in major league history. Milwaukee moved over .500 for the first time since Memorial Day by slugging St. Louis 8-3.

In the American League, Detroit ended Chicago's winning streak at 12 games, beating the White Sox 12-5, and gained a 1-1/2 game lead over New York. The Yankees lost 5-3 at Los Angeles. Cleveland split a two-night pair with Washington, winning 3-2 before dropping the nightcap 5-2. Baltimore defeated Kansas City 5-4, and Boston defeated Minnesota 6-2.

Southpaw Joe Gibbon (6-3) beat the Dodgers for the third time in three decisions. He struck out seven, walked but one and allowed six hits, two of them solo homers by Frank Howard and Daryl Spencer.

The Cubs collected 25 hits, 12 for extra bases including five home runs, while beating Bob Purkey (9-4) and Jim O'Toole (6-7). Ron Santo, after going hitless in 14 trips, drove in seven runs, five with two homers, in the first game behind winning right-hander Glen Hobbie (3-9).

Southpaw rookie Jack Curtis (4-2) then held the Reds to four hits in the nightcap as the Cubs made it seven out of 11 against Cincinnati this season.

The Phils and Giants each got three runs in the 15th (last inning under the 12:50 a.m. curfew rule), with the Phillies getting the tying run on a freak error. Tony Gonzalez, who had singled home one run in the inning, scampered in from third when catcher Hobie Landrith got off a high peg on a routine return toss to pitcher Mike McCormick.

Milwaukee stayed within one game of fourth place Pittsburgh as the Braves put away their eighth victory in 10 games with a three-game sweep at St. Louis. They scored three unearned runs in the second inning against loser Bob Gibson (5-5), then piled up four runs on homers by Joe Adcock and Frank Thomas in the third and fifth innings. Rookie Bob Hendley, a southpaw, won his first, but needed relief help when the Cards scored their three in the eighth inning.

TV Nine Cards 20-0 Triumph

Fort Hayes Victim Of 16-Hit Mauling

Stonerock's TV softballers left little doubt about the seriousness of their crown contention in the Columbus A Softball League last night, smothering Fort Hayes, 20-0, on a two - hit pitching combination by Kenny Reid and Harry Strawser.

The Southview Park contest got underway quietly enough, Stonerock's marking one opening-frame score. Neither side registered a run in the second.

The TV men broke things wide open in the third and fourth, however, counting nine markers on two doubles by Tom Turner and a host of singles.

Jack McGuire clubbed a home run and a double in the fifth to lead Stonerock's on the scoring warpath again, this time for nine runs in the single frame.

REID, who struck out 10 opponents and walked none, was relieved by Strawser in the fifth with one away. The newcomer mopped up nicely, fanning five and giving up two free passes in shutting Fort Hayes out of the run column.

The locals added one additional run in the top of the sixth. Losing hurler Stanberry whiffed but three men and surrendered two free trips in being tagged with the defeat. The Army outfit contributed to their own downfall with a whopping nine fielding errors.

Reid and Turner both had three hits apiece for the winners. McGuire, Don Neff, Bob Placier and Fred Davis collected a pair of safeties each.

Sportsmanship Praised by Two Directors

The co-directors of Circleville's Summer Youth Baseball Program had words of high praise today for the manner in which recent games — particularly last night's American Legion - Purina tilt — have been conducted.

"While both clubs staged what was probably the most exciting game of the season so far," Bob Wellington commented, "the most notable thing was the absence of some adult bickering that has interfered with many recent contests."

The men added that both teams played in the truest sportsmanlike tradition and that "both teams came out of this game a winner," according to Roger Bennington.

Both directors expressed the hope that the spirit of cooperation shown last night will continue. "The ones who benefit most from sportsmanship are the boys, and the adults must be their examples," Bennington and Wellington concluded.

Old Browns Backfield Signed for New Year

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns' defensive backfield, which led the National Football League in pass interceptions last year, will be back again this season.

The Browns announced Wednesday they had received signed contracts for 1961 from Jim Shofner, Bernie Parrish, Don Fleming and Bobby Franklin.

The quartet accounted for 27 of Cleveland's 31 interceptions.

Can Reds Win Pennant? They Are Capable, Hungry

CINCINNATI (AP) — Can the Cincinnati Reds win their first National League pennant in 21 years this season?

"I don't make predictions," says Manager Fred Hutchinson, "but there's no reason why we can't. Certainly we're capable."

Overcoming a bad start during which they suffered an eight-game losing streak, the Reds have picked up steam and crashed into serious contention.

3 Minor Squads Cop Tilts
Speakman Sparkles in 7-6 Legion Little League Win

With one run in and the tying and winning runs on base, American Legion hurler George Speakman got Ralston's Jeff Steele to bounce a last-out grounder to firstsacker Jim Moorehead as AL nipped Purina, 7-6 in a thrilling Little Major battle yesterday.

In minor circuit play, Third National got shutout pitching over the last four innings from Chuck Nunemaker to defeat Rotary, 14-11. Ward's Market used three moundsmen in turning back Jaycees, 14-9.

IOOF trounced Second National 22-8 in the last minor contest.

Purina's Doug Pontious locked into a tight hurling duel with Speakman from the opening pitch. The Legion boys managed one tally in the top of the first on lead-off batter Danny Dahl's single.

IN THE bottom of the frame Purina took advantage of two infield errors and a pair of walks to put across a pair of scores. Pontious held AL runless in the second and Checkerboard pulled off a three-run attack in the last of the frame on two more fielding boots and Bill Hill's one-bagger.

Chuck Plum doubled to bring home two AL markers in the third as Speakman retired Ralston in order. The losers went down without a tally in the fourth as Legion cut the spread to 5-4 on Dahl's second of three singles.

Moorehead belted his only hit of the scrap — a single — and Purina assisted with two miscues as Legion took the lead for the first time in the fifth, 6-5. Dahl clubbed a hit to make it 7-5 in the top of the sixth.

The feeders threatened as Larry Payne singled and Hill brought him across with another one-bagger.

Craig Lambert kept the rally fires smoldering, outwaiting Speakman to draw a walk. With runners on first and second, though, Speakman induced Steele to bounce harmlessly out to end the fray.

WHAT started as a slugfest turned into a pitcher's battle through the mid-frames in the Third National-Rotary tilt.

The bankers started with seven runs on five singles and two walks. Rotary retaliated with six markers on Tom Lutz' one-bagger, plus errors and walks in the bottom of the first.

Nicholas doubled and Paul Shauk singled to cap a two-run outburst for Third in the second. Rotary retained an 11-9 margin as Helwage, Wayne Garrison and Doug Huffines cracked out doubles and Tom Lutz connected for a triple.

Both sides went scoreless in the third. Third garnered a single tally without a hit in the fourth. Nunemaker turned on the hurling heat to blank the Rotarians with just one blow — Helwage's second double — over the rest of the route.

Danny Hettinger slugged a single to spark a four run winning upsurge in the top of the sixth. Nunemaker fanned two of the last three men he faced.

Jim Hill had an easy time "downing" Jaycees in his three frame relief stint last night. Eric Downing clubbed a double, single and homer in his last three appearances as the plate and brother Mike collected two singles and a two-bagger to lead Ward's.

BOTH squads counted five tallies in the first. Yeates took over on the mound for Wards in the second for Brown and blanked the Junior Chamber nine in the second. The marketeers rolled for four second-frame counters on Yeates' homer, doubles by Eric Downing and Gabriel and three singles.

Jaycees counted one run in the third, but so did Ward's. Hill assumed the grocers hurling duties in the fourth and retired his opponents on three straight strikeouts. Funk singled, Hill doubled, Brown singled, Downing homered, M. Downing doubled and Gabriel singled to plate Ward's fourth victory margin in the fourth.

Dennis Melson doubled in Jaycee's two-tally comeback try in the sixth but Ward's 20 safeties and 14 runs were too much. Ted Adams blasted three doubles in as many trips to the plate and Larry Young smacked a trio of singles as IOOF rolled over Second National 22-8.

In addition to their 13 safeties, the IOOF boys were the beneficiaries of 19 walks, nine of them in an 11 run, three-hit fourth inning that sewed up the win. They counted four in the first, one in the second and a half - dozen in the third.

Second was never in contention for the triumph. They managed three in the first, one in the third and a four-run outburst on two singles in the fourth. Greenwood was the losing pitcher and Gregg White, first of a trio of IOOF moundsmen, got credit for the victory.

Lavagetto Turns To Gus Fan Role

ORINDA, Calif. (AP)—The first thing Cookie Lavagetto does when he opens a newspaper is turn to the sports pages for a look at the baseball box scores.

"Just call me Gus Fan," says Cookie. "I'm still as interested in baseball as anybody."

Lavagetto, back at his home near Oakland, says he isn't bitter after being fired by the Minnesota Twins.

"Why hold a grudge?" he asks with a shrug. "I'm sure I'll be back in baseball before very long."

Except for four years during World War II when he was in the Navy, this is the first summer since 1932 that Lavagetto hasn't been in professional baseball.

Lancaster's Derby Downs Is Booming

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — Akron's All-America Derby Downs and soap box racing have long been synonymous but in Lancaster Ohio, an energetic group of Jaycees launched a derby project that has mushroomed into a community recreation area in a year's time.

Today, Lancaster and Fairfield County soap box derby and outdoor enthusiasts have access to a 21-acre tract which features a 1,000-foot, black-topped race track, the only derby racer lift in the country, a picnic area, a remodeled barn meeting room and winter sports facilities—thanks to the work of four Junior Chamber of Commerce members who engineered the building of this permanent landmark.

"It all started when we found our city streets inadequate for the derby," general Chairman Jack Friend commented in describing the growth of Lancaster Soap Box Derby Downs, Inc. "Uneven street conditions would have killed our racing program. Not only that but we were interrupting federal and state routes and we just had to move elsewhere.

"We started putting money aside before the last race on city streets in 1959. After the race — which turned out pretty bad because of the rough street conditions—we really had to push. We went to work right away to find property and in two months we found what we wanted south of Lancaster near the Boys Industrial School."

Friend and his co-workers—attorneys Jack Kelley and Jim Miller and insurance man Jack Furriss Jr.—Established a non-profit derby organization and began enlisting the aid of business leaders to sign a note on the property. The group was given firm backing when the original derby sponsors, the Lancaster Eagle-Gazette, Jaycees and auto dealer Bob White became the principal trustees.

In 1960, Lancaster Derby Downs, Inc. staged its first race at the new site. With 87 boys competing on a freshly-laid track, more than 5,000 spectators crammed the area to watch the day-long event. It was the biggest crowd in the history of the Lancaster Derby.

"We feel we're moving closer to the top every year," Friend says. "Two years ago, Anderson, Ind.—the home of three national champions—had 86 boys competing. Last year, we had 87 and the prospects are good we'll have the same number for our 1961 race, July 16.

"Sometime in the future, we hope to rent this area to other cities so that they can hold their own derbies. In this way, we can obtain necessary capital to improve the project the way we want to," Friend said.

Former Boston southpaw pitcher Mel Parnell manages the Alpine, Tex., Cowboys in the Class D Sophomore League.

Some Bonus Babies Do Flop, But Scouts Look for More

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball bonus payments are worthwhile when players such as Harmon Killebrew, Sandy Koufax, Al Kaline and Dick Groat are on the receiving end.

These four coupled with Mike McCormick, Robin Roberts, Lindy McDaniel, Curt Simmons, Harvey Kuenn and Johnny Antonelli are excellent reasons why major league ball clubs are dishing out king-sized bonuses to untested youngsters.

It's also dollars to doughnuts that many among the score of bonus babies signed this season will end up in the scrap heap—the same one into which have fallen such $50,000-$100,000 failures as Paul Giel, Billy Conso, Paul Pettit and Billy Joe Davidson.

But it's the success of the Kille-brews and the Koufaxes that make it mandatory for the scouts to work full time and the clubs to keep their checkbooks handy.

Killebrew, who got $50,000 to sign with Washington in 1954, found the range with the Senators in 1959, hitting 42 homers to tie for the American League lead. He walloped 31 last year and this season he's already had 22 homers to go with a sparkling .352 batting average for the Minnesota Twins.

It's taken six years for Koufax to start paying dividends on the $25,000 bonus given him by the Dodgers in 1955. He has a 10-3 record and leads the National League in strikeouts with 117. The fireballing lefty had a total of only 36 victories before this season.

Both Kaline and Groat are hitting well below their lifetime marks this year, but it's certain their clubs are not ready to ask them for refunds. Groat got a reported $75,000 bonus from Pittsburgh in 1952 and Kaline received $35,000 from Detroit in 1953. Kaline, who has a lifetime average of .306, is hitting .286 in 1961. Groat, the National's batting leader last season, has a .272 mark this year.

McCormick got $50,000 from the Giants and McDaniel the same amount from the Cardinals. McCormick won 15 games in 1960 and has 7 victories this season. McDaniel, one of the game's top relievers, posted a 12-4 record last year, and is 3-3 in 1961.

The Phils shelled out $65,000 for Simmons in 1947 and $25,000 for Roberts in 1948. Simmons won 115 games for his benefactors before they released him last year. He's now 2-6 with St. Louis. Roberts, only 1-8 this season, has picked up 234 triumphs for Philadelphia, including six 20-victory campaigns.

Kuenn, who was given a $55,000 bonus by Detroit, batted over .300 in six of his seven seasons with the Tigers. He's now with San Francisco. Southpaw Antonelli was no ball of fire for the Braves for whom he received a bonus of $52,000 in 1948. But he won 20 games twice for the Giants.

Cleveland Pro '5' Signs Bill Spivey

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Pipers said today Bill Spivey, 7-foot Kentucky basketball star who was rebuffed by the National Basketball Association, will play for the Pipers next season in the New American Basketball League.

Spivey was indicted for perjury in connection with a grand jury investigation a decade ago into alleged fixing of college basketball games. A jury voted 9-3 acquittal for Spivey's case in 1953, and the case was dismissed.

George Steinbrenner, president of the Pipers, said he had asked ABL officials about signing Spivey and was told to go ahead if convinced, after a complete investigation, that the former Kentucky player was blameless in the affair.

Sam Ellis struck out 73 batters in 50 innings this spring as a Mississippi State University sophomore and was promptly signed by the Cincinnati Reds.

New Partnership Formed at Defenbaugh Firm

A new partnership has been established at the Defenbaugh Funeral Home, 151 E. Main St.

The partnership includes Harold Defenbaugh, an original owner, and Jack Wise and Charles Wellman, former employees. The new operation of the firm becomes effective Saturday.

Defenbaugh, who will retain his interest in the business along with his wife, will serve as general manager. He said today no general change in policy is planned and that the firm will continue to serve the community as in the past.

The new partnership was prompted by the death of Defenbaugh's brother, William, who was killed in Columbus May 18 when a truck bed fell on him. The two brothers, both licensed as embalmers and funeral directors, shared the business prior to the accident.

NEW PARTNERS — Jack Wise, left, and Charles Wellman, will join with Harold Defenbaugh for a three-way ownership of the Defenbaugh Funeral Home, 151 E. Main St. Both are former employees of the firm. The Defenbaugh operation was established in Tarlton in 1840.

WILLIAM Defenbaugh's wife, Gwendolen, recently took the necessary legal measures to sell her husband's share to Wise and Wellman. The move was completed this week, with Attorney Emmitt L. Crist serving as legal counsel in the transaction.

Wise, who lives at 333 E. Franklin St., has been employed at Defenbaugh's for 14 years. He has served as transportation and ambulance director.

Wise, 33, is the son of Fire Chief and Mrs. Talmer Wise. A 1945 graduate of Circleville High School, he joined the Defenbaugh firm shortly after his discharge from the U. S. Marine Corps. He and his wife, Marilyn, have three sons.

Wellman, 28, hails from Wheelersburg, O., where he was graduated from high school in 1950. He was graduated from the College of Embalming in Cincinnati in 1953 and is fully licensed for embalming and as a funeral director.

The Wheelersburg (Scioto County) native served four years with the U. S. Air Force and attended the University of Anchorage while stationed in Alaska. He also attended Ohio University, Athens, following his discharge.

Wellman, his wife, Patricia, and two children live at 830 Atwater Ave. He is a member of the First Methodist Church, the Circleville Lions Club, the Defenbaugh Funeral Home representative to Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce and a member of Pi Sigma Eta Professional Embalming Fraternity.

THE local mortician gained his first practical experience with the Duncan Harrison Funeral Home in Wheelersburg where he worked for three years. He served one year of apprenticeship with Defenbaugh's following his formal instruction at Cincinnati.

The original Defenbaugh Funeral Home was established in Tarlton in 1840 by Peter Defenbaugh, a great grandfather of Harold. The founder was succeeded by his sons, Stephen and Franklin, with Franklin later dropping out of the business.

Stephen continued the business until about 1902 when he turned the operation over to his son, Harley, who became one of the earliest embalmers in this area.

On May 1, 1940, Harley transferred the business to his sons, Harold and William, and a daughter, Mary. The new owners observed the 100th anniversary of the firm by moving operations to Circleville the same year.

The Defenbaughs purchased their present building at 151 E. Main St. The building at one time was the old Ruggles homestead and later the property of Mr. and Mrs. R. Rae Bales.

The sister, Mary, died in 1943, leaving the business to the two brothers who operated in partnership until William's death in May.

Wellman and Wise today said they hope to promote the same community service the funeral home has provided in the past.

Petitions Ask Repeal Of Ohio Blue Laws

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A repeal of Ohio's Sunday closing laws is asked in petitions ready for delivery to the Legislature.

Medley Hoch, an official of the Lawson Mil Co., said the petitions carry 100,000 signatures collected in company stores since last Sunday. Hoch said they were the first of similar petitions to be delivered to House Speaker Roger Cloud's office.

The Lawson Co. operates more than 300 stores in northeastern Ohio, Columbus and the Dayton-Springfield area.

Boredom Said Big Sickness Of Our Age

NEW YORK (AP)—A Harvard doctor checking the nation's mental and emotional health today declared: "The great sickness of our age is aimlessness, boredom, and lack of meaning and purpose" in living.

We can be enthralled by the space age, but almost willfully try to avoid "learning how to understand and control ourselves," said Dr. Dana Farnsworth, director of Harvard University health services and staff physician at Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston.

"Medicine has made enormous strides in alleviating pain and prolonging life," he said.

Now an expanded task for doctors is to give "meaning to the life," Farnsworth told the American Medical Association's 110th annual meeting.

To endure their troubles, said Farnsworth, people need "feelings of basic confidence in one's self and others, a sense of competence, and a basic faith that the whole human situation is worthwhile."

Navy Is Rapped In Tower Tragedy

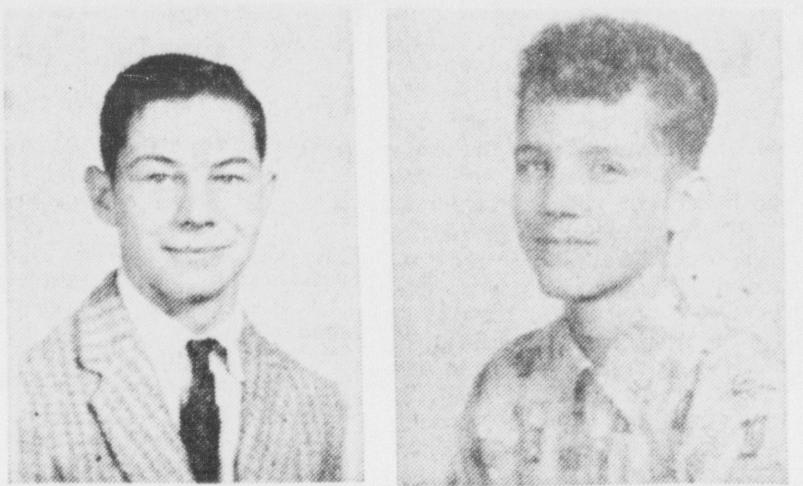

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate report today sternly criticized the Navy and the designers and builders of the radar "Texas Tower" that collapsed in a blizzard and carried all hands — 28 men — to their deaths.

The report — which added that the Air Force must also shoulder its share of the blame—bitingly referred to "buckpassing" and "the hodge-podge of indecision."

The terrific forces of winds and waves were clearly miscalculated, the report said.

The 5,000-ton steel structure, perched like a giant three-legged stool in open sea 80 miles off the New Jersey coast, was battered and driven to ocean bottom last Jan. 15 by gale winds and waves.

Two Local Youths Missing

DAVID TOMLINSON

JAMES SHEAF

Two Circleville teenage boys were reported missing today by their foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Tomlinson, 444 Stella Ave.

The grieving mother said today both boys were attending Camp Lazarus, Delaware County. Camp officials notified her that the youths left camp between 3 and 4 p. m. Tuesday and haven't been seen since.

Missing are David Tomlinson, 15 and James Sheaf, 14. Mrs. Tomlinson said David is adopted and Jimmy is a foster child.

State Highway Patrol, Sheriff's Departments and City police in Pickaway, Franklin and Delaware Counties were alerted Tuesday.

MRS. TOMLINSON said the boys left home Sunday for Camp Lazarus, giving no indication of any problems or difficulties. "They were happy and excited about going to camp," the mother explained.

Hawaiians Impress Ohio's First Lady

HONOLULU (AP)—Mrs. Michael V. DiSalle, pinch hitting for her husband—Ohio's governor—at the national governor's conference, says, "I can see why we should have one world — the Oriental people are so beautiful."

She said she was "most impressed with the mixed racial background of Hawaii" where Orientals comprise about 65 per cent of the islands' population.

Speaking about her husband, who could not attend the conference because the Ohio Legislature is in session, Mrs. DiSalle said: "I couldn't possibly take his place, but he felt it should be covered, so he sent us to see what transpires."

Ohio's first lady was accompanied by four members and aides to the governor.
